Ken Stewart's Restaurants Opens Tre Belle, an Authentic Italian Restaurant, in Bath, Ohio.

AKRON, OH, May 7, 2009 – Ken Stewart, owner of Ken Stewart's Grille and Ken Stewart's Lodge, and his partner, Parry Girves, have opened a new restaurant and lounge, Tre Belle (pronounced Tray-Bell-A) at 1911 North Cleveland Massillon Road in Bath, Ohio.

Vincent Zimbardi is the executive chef in the new venture; Branko Kidric, who earned his degree in Hospitality Management from one of Europe's top universities, serves as general manager.

Conveniently located adjacent to Ken Stewart's Lodge and minutes from I-77 and Ghent Road, Tre Belle is unique in its ability to deliver a truly authentic Italian dining experience. Ken Stewart traveled Italy in search of the culinary recipes and creative inspiration necessary to design a true-to-life Italian dining experience. Stewart comments, "Tre Belle is a stylish, distinctive alternative to the average Italian chains in this area."

Like many restaurants across Italy, Tre Belle is a sensory experience. Upon entering, guests are enveloped by the aroma of fresh baked bread and wood-fired pizzas, the vibrant colors of vegetables on the Italian marble antipasto bar and the bang-n-clatter of plates rushing through the restaurant, heaped with authentic Italian specialties such as provolone and prosciutto, and sausage, peppers and onions.

The menu features affordably priced Italian mainstays like pasta dishes that are prepared with homemade sauces along with a number of signature items, including natural lemon chicken, prepared in the region's finest rotisserie, and a dozen specialty pizzas prepared by master pizza chef Renato, a native of Naples, Italy.

"We wanted to bring a truly authentic, yet affordable, Italian dining experience to the market and feel we have accomplished this," said Stewart.
